Eddie Wilcut is the Team Lead in charge of Water and Energy Efficiency Services for Alan Plummer Associates in Austin, Texas. Mr. Wilcut is a graduate of Texas State University, where he received a Master of Arts in Applied Geography.

Mr. Wilcut began his career in water conservation in 1998 with the San Antonio Water System (SAWS), where he helped to develop one of the most effective and aggressive water conservation programs in the United States. During his 11 years with SAWS, Mr. Wilcut was instrumental in helping companies such as Frito Lay, Coca-Cola, Sea World, and Philips Semiconductor in reducing collective water use by more than 200 million gallons per year.

From 2009 to 2011, Mr. Wilcut served as the National Conservation Manager for Caroma, where he learned much about the manufacturing side of water conservation products. Since 2011, he has worked to establish successful conservation programs with a number of municipalities across the United States. Additionally, Mr. Wilcut has conducted extensive water and energy efficiency surveys for the United States Army Corps of Engineers and the Department of the Navy at more than 30 military bases across the world.
