Daniel Simmons is the principal of Simmons Energy and Environmental Strategies. He served as the assistant secretary for the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy (EERE) at the U.S. Department of Energy for the entirety of the first Trump administration. In that role, he oversaw DOE's Appliance Standards Program and the spending of nearly $10 billion on research and development on renewable energy, vehicle, and advanced manufacturing technologies.

Mr. Simmons has more than 25 years of experience in Washington, D.C., working for the executive branch, legislative branch, and various non-profits before starting his consulting business.
