Leadership and peak performance expert Alex Weber delivers humor, inspiring stories and practical tools that help individuals and audiences become unstoppable. He encourages people to work through changes and conquer challenges so they can accomplish their biggest career, relationship and life goals.

As a professional entertainer, U.S. Lacrosse Coach of the Year, and acclaimed author of “Fail Proof: Become the Unstoppable You,” he is highly sought after for his unique ability to engage, empower and transform audiences. He describes himself as a “human shot of espresso” who shares his game-changing secrets to record-breaking success.

Weber tells inspirational stories from his time competing on NBC’s American Ninja Warrior, a television show featuring elite athletes who compete by conquering the ultimate obstacle course to win cash prizes. He chronicles his heartbreak, losses and awkward moments to reinforce a powerful idea: success is often built on the foundation of setbacks. Of note, he is the only person to both host and compete on the show.

Weber connects with audiences because of his genuine openness about the challenges, self-doubt, and uncertainty that everyone faces—and how to overcome it! He has positively inspired more than 5.5 million people worldwide, and worked with major companies including Xerox, Apple, Fidelity, Amazon, Under Armor, LinkedIn, RE/MAX, the Los Angeles Lakers, Stanford Business, and many more.
